

MR PLUM MONOLOGUE

Yes, but now I work for the U.S. Government.

So, my work has not changed. But I can't practice medicine anymore, can I? My license has been lifted, correct?

You know what male doctors aren't supposed to do with their lady patients?

Yeah, well, I did.

But that was a long time ago! I made a mistake, I paid for it, and now I do research for U-NO-WHO.

A branch of the United Nations Organization — the World Health Organization.

I'm not a criminal. I'm a scientist. I devote my life to research, to facts, to truth — not to gossip, not to scandal, not to blackmail.

And I refuse to be judged by the worst thing I ever did.
